FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI

A MESSAGE FROM...

It's hard to believe it's already June but June it is. And that means that we're winding down another (extraordinary) academic year. As you've noticed from some of the pictures in this week's bulletin, we had a joyful graduation ceremony last Saturday. We celebrated the achievements of 52 St. James students who have been remarkable at "living with change," to quote their graduation theme. 🌟

These 52 Bulldogs are being unleashed into a world that is ever-changing, and we're confident that in the midst of change, they'll be able to rely on the solid foundation that St. James School has helped them to build. Please join me in praying for them as they evolve into Lions, Huskies, Panthers, Knights, Bison, Pirates, Wildcats, Mustangs, Titans, and Eagles...oh my. 🐾

And that's not all, today (Friday) marks the last day of school for all the rest of our Bulldogs. As the year comes to a close, we give thanks to God for being able to learn together in person throughout the year, for helping us through challenges, for giving us wise and dedicated teachers, and for inspiring us to continue learning and growing, even when we're not at school.

I hope everyone has a fun, relaxing, and prayerful summer—a time to recharge and enjoy the blessings that God continues to lavish upon us!

Fr. Ryan

Racism and Economic Inequality

Second in a series of nine USCCB backgrounders on racism and systemic racism, wealth, education, employment, housing, migration, criminal justice, the Native American experience, and voting. Combatting Racism - Parish Resources / USCCB

In the United States, median wealth for white households is ten times greater than for black households, and eight times greater than for Hispanic households. This is a significantly larger gap than many Americans perceive. Currently, Native Americans, blacks, and Hispanics also experience poverty at roughly twice or more than twice the rate of whites. For the typical household, two-thirds of wealth comes from housing equity, such that the wealth gap between white and black households is largely the story of work and housing policies that have created obstacles for African Americans to achieve home and land ownership for generations.

- Income gaps across racial and ethnic groups have narrowed only slightly in the last few decades. For example, lower-income African Americans made 47% as much as low-income whites in 1970 and in 2016, they made 54% as much as white counterparts. Hispanics of all income categories actually fell further behind during this same period.
- In 2017, The Harvard University Business School Review documented that hiring discrimination against African Americans has not declined in the past 25 years.
- The 2018 annual report of the Joint Center for Housing Studies at Harvard University found a widening gap in homeownership in recent decades, with current rates at 72% for whites and 43% for blacks. It is evident that many minority families still face challenges in achieving homeownership and economic equality.
