Today's Readings

First Reading

God gives freedom to choose life or death; humans are responsible for their choices, and God sees all actions.

Sirach 15:15-20

Second Reading

God reveals hidden wisdom through the Spirit, surpassing human understanding, preparing unimaginable blessings for those who love Him.

1 Corinthians 2:6-10

Gospel

Jesus fulfills the Law, deepening it beyond outward rules to inner righteousness, teaching wholehearted obedience, integrity, mercy, and love in every aspect of life.

Matthew 5:17-37

Dear Friends,

The annual penitential season of Lent begins this week with Ash Wednesday. Once again, the Church invites us to pause, reflect, and remember the brevity of our lives and the great mercy of God. As ashes are imposed on our foreheads, we hear the sobering words, "Remember, man, that you are dust, and unto dust you shall return."

These words remind us that our time on earth is limited and precious, and that each day is an opportunity to turn away from sin and turn more fully toward the Lord.

The Lord never gives up on us. In His love, He offers us this sacred season year after year as a time to reorient our hearts and lives toward Him. The three traditional Lenten practices—prayer, almsgiving, and fasting—are not burdens, but gifts. They help shape our souls, strengthen our discipline, and prepare us for the journey toward Heaven. When embraced sincerely, they open us to deeper conversion and a more intimate relationship with God.

As you are doubtless aware, the winter Olympics in Milan showcase the amazing talent of athletes from around the world. Through their personal discipline and dedication to their sport, they have reached the milestone of Olympic competition. There are parallels to the spiritual life. Through our own discipline and determination, along with the grace of God, we can advance in the spiritual life, whose ultimate goal is eternal life with God.

My prayer and hope is that this Lent will be a season of renewal in our faith and growth in our resolve to order our lives more and more to the Gospel. Please use the spiritual gifts the Lord has given us: the sacrament of Confession (especially if it's been a long time), daily Mass, and adoration in our Perpetual Adoration Chapel are available throughout the season.

Another way to engage is by attending our Parish Mission entitled Build a Culture of Prayer. The mission is presented by Hallow and will take place March 14th through the 16th. Perhaps one of the most daunting challenges of Lent can be self denial, the voluntary forgoing of something good. Whether it is a certain food or comfort, we may choose to give them up not because they are evil, but because that denial can open us up to a deeper reception of the Lord in our lives.

God bless you,

Fr. Ed

P.S. Last Monday evening the Sacred Sounds concert was powerful and beautiful. Thank you to our music director Tam Conseur and his team for providing such a magnificent event for our parish and the wider community.
