Today's Readings

First Reading

St. Luke recounts the moment of Jesus' ascension to heaven after commissioning the disciples to spread the Gospel.

Acts 1:1-11

Second Reading

Paul prays believers know Christ's power and hope, for Jesus reigns supreme as head of the Church.

Ephesians 1:17-23

Gospel

Jesus commissions his disciples to make disciples of all nations, baptizing and teaching them, promising His presence always.

Matthew 28:16-20

As they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him from their sight. While they were looking intently at the sky as he was going, suddenly two men dressed in white garments stood beside them. They said, Men of Galilee, why are you standing there looking at the sky? This Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven will return in the same way as you have seen him going into heaven."

- Acts 1:10-11

Dear Friends,

Jesus has completed the mission for which he came into the world. Salvation has been won. Now he returns to the Father, with the promise that He will send the Holy Spirit to empower the Apostles to continue the work of salvation through the Church. He also promises that he will return when the time has come.

When Jesus returned to Heaven, he brought something that had never been there before. He brought humanity to the Kingdom where God dwells. And he offers that promise to all of us. We can attain complete communion with God through the work of Jesus.

Jesus instituted the sacrament of Holy Orders to make his saving mission present to all ages until his return. The coming Tuesday, May 19, Fr. Paul and I mark our twenty-fifth anniversary of priestly Ordination. Cardinal Francis George ordained us along with 8 classmates at Holy Name Cathedral. We will celebrate this silver jubilee with a concelebrated 5 pm mass on Saturday, May 16, with a reception to follow in the gym. We give thanks to God for the gift of our priesthood. Ad multos annos!

I am very grateful to God for the role I have been given as your pastor. It is a joy and a grace.

God bless you,

Fr. Ed

REFLECTING ON THE SCRIPTURES

Many of us belong to companies, schools, or organizations that have mission statements. A mission statement explains the purpose of the organization and what it hopes to accomplish. But have you ever wondered what the mission of the Church is? Every Catholic should know the answer, because through baptism we belong to the Church and share in its mission.

The word “mission” comes from the Latin missionem, meaning “to send.” In the sixteenth century, Jesuits were sent throughout the world to preach the Gospel and convert souls to Christ. A mission, therefore, is not simply a goal or dream. It involves someone being sent by an authority to accomplish a task. Like the famous line from Mission Impossible: “Your mission, should you choose to accept it...” A mission requires both a sender and someone willing to say yes.

Christ himself had a mission. Every Sunday in the Creed we proclaim that the Son of God “came down from heaven” for our salvation. The Father sent the Son into the world to become man, suffer, die, and rise again so humanity could be saved from sin and death. The Ascension celebrates the completion of Christ’s earthly mission and his victory over death.

Yet the mission is not fully complete, because the salvation won by Christ must still reach every person in every generation. This is the mission of the Church, the Body of Christ. Through baptism and confirmation, Catholics receive the Holy Spirit and are sent into the world to spread the Gospel.

This mission belongs not only to priests and religious, but to every baptized Christian. Parents live the mission by raising children in the faith. Workers, students, and neighbors live it by showing Christ’s love in daily life and sharing their faith when opportunities arise.

Christ was sent to save the world. Now he sends us, his Church, to bring that salvation to others.

Reflection Questions:

- What does it mean to you personally that every baptized Catholic shares in the mission of the Church, not just priests or religious leaders?
- In what ways can you live out Christ’s mission in your daily life at home, school, work, or among friends?
- Why do you think Jesus chose to continue his mission through the Church and its members instead of accomplishing everything directly himself?

(Practicing) Catholic

By Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

I love words (obviously; I’m a writer).

But sometimes, words are like teeny, tiny cages. They enclose and confine and restrict our understanding of supernatural realities that are, by their nature, bigger than language.

We do the best we have, with the words that we have, to express who God is. We use terms like “Father” and “Son” because they are the most accurate. But often, without really noticing, we give the words too much weight, and we find ourselves thinking of Jesus as a human son and the Creator as a human father, with all the implications those particular words carry for different people.

That’s why I love hearing Christ speak to God the Father in the Gospels. These one-sided conversations (at least from our viewpoint) pull back the curtain just a little on the breathtaking intimacy that exists between the two. Our misunderstandings of their relationship — framed by our own human experience of fathers and sons, of time and place, of creation and death — are shattered.

“Now glorify me, Father, with you,” Jesus says, “with the glory that I had with you before the world began.”

Before the world began.

In our collective imagination, too often we imagine Jesus as being connected — tethered, really — to a certain time and place: the Incarnation, and all that came after. But let’s not get confused: the Incarnation means that the Son became flesh, and dwelt among us. The Incarnation does not mean that the Son became.

The Son was. From the very beginning, He was. Begotten, not made. Consubstantial.

We say these words every week in the Creed. But saying them isn’t enough. We have to take them into the silence of our hearts and hold them there. We have to invite the Spirit to move among them. Rearrange them. Liberate them. Unleash them.

Only then will we understand what words fail to explain.
